

IAWP Colleagues,

It is with a heavy heart I announce the tragic murder in the line of duty of Paris Police Officer Clarissa Jean-Philippe.

Only 2 weeks on the job, Officer Philippe was gunned down while working unarmed investigating a traffic accident. She is survived by her mother and family in Martinique.

Sadly our colleague's short career was ended at the hands of a terrorist set to invoke fear. Philippe's courage is her legacy. Clarissa will be remembered and I pray her life will inspire other women to seek the profession of law enforcement.

Please pray for the family friends and colleagues of Officer Clarissa Jean-Philippe.

Pray for the families, friends and colleague of Officers Franck Brinsolaro and Ahmed Merabat who fell at the hands of Charlie Hebdo terrorist.

Pray for the family, friends and colleagues of the slain Charlie Hebdo journalists.

Pray for peace in Paris.

In the US a campaign has been launched for appreciation of our law enforcement officers. The official day is today January 9, 2015. It is called National Law Enforcement Appreciation Day. Please make prayer for the safety of our law enforcement colleagues worldwide a part of your prayer/meditation ritual. There is power in prayer.

Stay Safe everyone. Know your colleagues worldwide are praying for you.
