

IN MEMORIAM

Constable Jennifer Kovach, Guelph Police Service, Ontario Canada

Tomorrow is not promised to any of us. When Constable Jennifer Kovach started her shift on the evening of March 13, 2013 she had no way of knowing that shift would be her last. She did not know when she drove her patrol car enroute to support another Constable that she would not arrive. Constable Kovach lost her life in a vehicle accident in the line of duty. The affects of Constable Kovach untimely death has left a community in mourning; not just the local people she served yet also the global community is left with a hole by her passing.

Please pray for Jennifer's family, friends, colleagues and community as they look back on and celebrate her life and prepare to lay her to rest. Especially keep her mother Guelph City Councillor Gloria Kovach in your thoughts and prayers.

Constable Kovach is one of three female law enforcement officers internationally that has lost their lives in vehicle accidents since the beginning of 2013.
