IAWP 1st Vice President 2018-2021 Julia Jaeger, U.K.

The International association of Women Police 1st vice president for the next 3 years (2018-2021) is Julia Jaeger, a former police officer with the Metropolitan Police, U.K. where she served for 25 years, retiring at the rank of Inspector. Julia has been an active member of IAWP since 2004, attending her first IAWP annual training conference in 2005, in Leeds, U.K. She has previously served as a member of the Board of Directors as the Regional Coordinator for Western Europe for 6 years and 3 years as Recording Secretary before being elected to her current role in August this year. She also serves as a committee member of the British Association for Women in Policing (BAWP), an affiliate of IAWP.

During her time on the Board of Directors Julia has been instrumental in building relationships with some key global allies such as the UN Women, The Commonwealth Women's Network and the U.K. government's Ending Sexual Violence in Conflict initiative.

Julia says of her new position within IAWP, "I am thrilled to have been elected and look forward to supporting the President as we reach out to our members and other women officers globally to empower them in their policing careers"

About the International Association of Women Police

The International Association of Women Police (IAWP) is a richly diverse and growing organization with global reach. We have Members, Affiliates, Friends and Strategic Partners in countries around the World.

Our Mission: To strengthen, unite and raise the capacity of women in policing internationally.

Our Vision: IAWP envisions a world where police reflect the diversity of communities they serve and human rights are protected. Our mission is to strengthen and raise the capacity of women in policing internationally.
