

International Association of Women Police Research Paper Series Call for Articles

We are pleased to announce the International Association of Women Police (IAWP) has started a research E-Paper Series within the Criminal Justice Research Network (CJRN) and Women's and Gender Studies Network (WGSRN) of SSRN.

IAWP E-Paper Series Current Volume:1 and Current issue: I

Frequency: A minimum of 4 Times/year

Established in 1915, IAWP is a premier intellectual global powerhouse that develops and promotes evidence-based policies, programs and field practices via sponsoring grants and graduate fellowships for women in policing and law enforcement and by encouraging professional-academic partnerships.

The IAWP represents all ranks and grades within policing and law enforcement providing knowledge, skills, and experience from police frontline practitioners across the globe. This allows IAWP us to bring a unique perspective to academic research, and other high-level reports enabling IAWP to inform strategy and policy development at the global level.

The IAWP E-Paper Series will feature the latest research and field experiences from women in policing in several areas of research focus including women in leadership roles, gender mainstreaming within police, need for bringing women to the central stage of policing, gender-responsive policing, recruitment, training and retention of women in police, prevention, detection and investigation of physical crime, cybercrime and cyber-victimization of women and girls, and family, mental and physical health issues of women police officers.

Papers submitted for the series will be reviewed by a panel and the Department of Academic Standards of SSRN. Papers featured in the series can move on to top quality research and leadership journals widely recognized by the best institutions and minds in the world.

IAWP is a global organization with a mission to strengthen, unite and raise the profile of women in Criminal Justice internationally.
